Why Does Local Planning Matter?

Local WIOA planning matters and assists with the following:

- Shapes the job training and education programs
- Addresses how to meet the needs of the community within the public workforce system
- Fosters alignment with different institutions and systems
- Builds bridges with partner institutions like social services, education, and corrections
- Identify local priorities like work with specific population(s) with barriers to employment, key industries with specialized workforce needs, collaborations between related public systems, or other issues that are important to a local community

How Does WIOA Serve the Community?

AMERICAN JOB CENTERS

-2,400 NATIONWIDE

IN CALIFORNIA

-106 COMPREHENSIVE CENTERS

-96 AFFILIATE CENTERS

IN ORANGE COUNTY

-4 COMPREHENSIVE AJCCs

-2 SATELLITES

- American Job Centers of California (AJCCs) are required to offer services in local communities to all of the populations that WIOA identifies as having barriers to employment.
- AJCCs support “rapid response” services which are specialized services offered to businesses that are preparing for significant layoffs and need support in helping individuals find new jobs and/or re-train for new careers.
- WDBs provide a significant amount of service delivery which may include services for youth, veterans, or other populations with unique barriers to employment, special projects, and more.
- The WDB providers are community based organizations (CBOs) and non-profits, secondary and post-secondary educational institutions, and for-profit companies.
