From: GOOD WILL Project of the Orange County Human Relations Commission

TO: Orange County Friends

Does your small company, large business, school, individual philanthropy, faith organization, community group or government enterprise deserve special recognition from the County of Orange?

The Human Relations Commission of Orange County has developed an exciting new program to spotlight the good works of numerous OC enterprises-- from one-person operation to large corporations. We are interested in publicly honoring different groups which have reflected significant progress in improving human relationships and effective communication in the workplace environment. This includes minimizing or eliminating bias and discrimination around disability, gender, nationality, race or ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, age, and financial position. We are particularly interested in acknowledging special programs which promote the health, welfare and human rights of ALL Orange County residents.

If your workplace shows evidence of REDUCED conflict and tension as well as ENHANCED communication and interpersonal relationships-- BECAUSE OF superior leadership, education, special training or mentoring programs, please contact the Orange County Commissioner below. We look forward to hearing your story of success and (possibly) honoring your "Good Will."

Goals:

1. To foster a safe and inclusive communities; strengthen collaboration; increase reporting of hate crimes and incidents
2. To convene the audience of community leaders and law enforcement with direct roles in addressing hate crimes and incidents

Resources:

- 2017 Hate Crime Report and powerpoint presentation of the data highlights.

Attendance:

- Total attendance: 55 participants
- Law enforcement, Nonprofits, Community Leaders, Grass root organizers, media and individuals.

Results:

- Great turn out from the invited organizations and hate crimes reporting partners
- The convening was a great opportunity to launch the 2017 Hate Crime Report and review the data and analysis.
- The presentations on hate groups in Orange County and Prevention of Bias-Motivated Violence were well received.
- The group conducted an open dialogue on hate crimes and hate events in the county and how to combat hate in our community.

Learning points/Future Development:

- The partnership of Commission & Council is great.
- The format of having everyone at the table works.
- Networking of organizations works well.
- Multiple Media present
- Experts presenting on hate groups and prevention steps were well received.
- Need to do more outreach to the underreporting communities.

Next Steps:

- Need to schedule the next meeting to debrief the event.
- Follow-up thank you email to the network
- Continue reaching out to invite the AAPI, Latino and African American Communities to attend the next meeting.
